Executive Summary

€400M LUX RAIF TARGETING 15%+ NET IRR FROM EUROPEAN DISTRESSED AND SPECIAL SITUATIONS CREDIT BACKED BY REAL ESTATE

THE VALORI CREDIT FUND | INVESTMENT PROPOSITION

The Opportunity

€370bn of EU bank NPLs (Q4-2025) with Stage 2 'vulnerable' exposures stable around 9.1%, (~€1.5tn).

The NPL pipeline is not slowing: banks reported €110bn of NPL inflows in H1-2025 alone. Structural pressure persists as banks face capital and disposal mandates and credit-cycle stress builds in pockets.

In Central and Southern Europe, fewer well-capitalised local buyers and retreating global funds leave the €10–50m mid-market underserved, favoring specialist private capital with speed and structuring agility.

Secured Distressed Debt in Current Market Backdrop

GLOBAL MACRO UNCERTAINTY AND CREDIT STRESS IN CRE

GLOBAL MACROECONOMIC UNCERTAINTY

- Economic growth in the euro-area remains sluggish: real GDP is projected at ~1.0% in 2026 while inflation started to rise again
- Central banks face a balancing act: maintaining rates high enough to anchor inflation while avoiding recession— with elevated financing costs and refinancing risk across corporates
- Supply-chain, trade & geopolitical risks remain elevated (e.g., tariff threats, energy/commodity price volatility, structural shifts in real estate and credit markets). These dynamics increase corporate stress and open paths for special situations.

COMPETITIVE DYNAMICS & CREDIT STRESS IN CRE

- In commercial real estate (CRE), the blend of higher borrowing costs, structural shifts (e.g., hybrid work reducing office demand; e-commerce reducing retail footprint), and elevated cap-rates is creating latent distress and covenant stress
- Real-estate valuations have broadly corrected or face meaningful adjustment in many markets — creating triggers for loan migrations (performing → vulnerable → non-performing) and for secured debt investors to step in with better collateral coverage
- The combination of slow growth, credit stress and limited buyer competition is creating a “window” for special-situation credit and distressed debt¹

Note: The delinquency rate on Commercial-Backed Securities (CMBS) for offices surged in October 2025 to a record of 11.8% (highest ever on record - higher than during the great financial crisis). Source: Trepp

OPPORTUNITY IN DISTRESSED DEBT / SPECIAL SITUATIONS

DISTRESSED DEBT VOLUMES & OPPORTUNITY POOLS

- Non-performing loans (NPLs) in the EU continue to stand at material levels (~€378 bn as of Q1-2025) with bank Stage 2 (performing but vulnerable) exposures approaching 9.5%, (~ €1tn)
- Although headline primary NPL volumes declined, structural pressure increases: regulatory banks are under capital and disposal mandates, and real-estate/credit-cycle stress is increasing in certain pockets
- In Central and Southern Europe especially, fewer well-capitalised local buyers, retreating global buyers and constrained funding mean competitive dynamics favour specialist private capital with speed and structuring & funding agility

GOLDEN ERA FOR PRIVATE CREDIT & DISTRESSED SPECIAL SITUATIONS

- The current environment offers a rare alignment: elevated financing/regulatory stress, under-priced risk in secured debt, limited competition from traditional players, and mature enforcement/legal frameworks in Europe
- For investors in secured distressed debt/private credit special situations: this means the potential for higher yields and asymmetric upside/limited downside if well priced and managed
- The combination of macro-fragility + credit stress + structural real-estate dislocation supports a compelling case for allocating to this asset class now

WHY INVESTING IN SECURED DISTRESSED DEBT

Low Correlation to Traditional Asset Classes	- Secured distressed debt is event-driven and asset-backed, behaving differently from equities, bonds, commodities, private equity and largely also to real estate Idiosyncratic risk add true diversification and smoother portfolio returns
Downside Protection	Real estate-backed debt offers downside protection through collateralization Conservative asset valuations provide a buffer against losses, offering greater security than typical equity investments
High Return with a Better Cash Flow Profile than Private Equity	- Compared to private equity—especially in real estate-backed distressed debt—delivers more immediate and predictable cash flows - Cash flow production begins shortly post-acquisition, offering stable high income with less volatility and shorter time to liquidity
Mature Legal Environment	The EU offers a mature legal framework for debt enforcement, ensuring predictable timelines and outcomes in distressed scenarios Regulated loan servicing market ensures transparency, compliance, and investor protection
Structural Opportunity Created by Market Dislocation	Banks across Europe are increasingly retreating from non-core and non-performing exposures due to regulatory pressure and higher capital costs, creating a persistent funding gap - This gap allows specialized investors in distressed debt and private credit to acquire assets or provide financing at attractive risk-adjusted returns As traditional lenders pull back, private capital becomes a key liquidity provider — capturing outsized returns from complexity, speed, and bespoke structuring that institutional players cannot match

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

	Distressed Debt	Special Situations
Target Assets	• RE backed NPL granular or concentrated portfolios • Acquisition at a discount to face value, pricing anchored in RE collateral value (single names and pools)	• Non-core disposals/spin-offs from financial institutions • Unlocking values of struggled CRE and Resi developments • Discounted acquisitions of distressed exposure, agreement with the sponsor and value accretive additional financing
Investment Underwriting	• Rigorous line by line underwriting with thorough due diligence focused on legal, collateral and recovery strategy	• Mispriced high-quality assets: non-core and overlooked given lending platforms not scaled enough • Unfinished developments struggle from unresolved defaulted exposures and new financing need
Value Unlock	• Clear monetization paths: amicable (restructurings/settlements) combined with judicial-led recoveries, and/ or asset disposals	• Value unlock typically via operational restructurings & efficient monetization • Often combined with additional funding
Risk Profile	• Hard asset-heavy focus: downside protection with meaningful upside • Cycle-resilient strategy that performs in dislocation and macro uncertainty	• Flexible positioning across the capital structure to optimize risk / reward profile • Goal: compelling risk-adjusted returns in under-appreciated situations
Target VCF Allocations	• ~60% allocation assumed • ~€10-30m tickets allocations to VCF (in line with the fund's growth and concentration limits) • Sole acquisitions and co-invests • ~5-10 transactions	• ~40% allocation assumed • ~€10-20m allocations to VCF addressing the fund size and concentration limits • Sole acquisitions and co-invests • ~5-7 transactions
